Agent Gives Methods To Remove Floor Spots

Following method for removing black marks on floors caused by composition soles and heels of shoes is recommended by Hannah Nabors, Jones County Home Demonstration Club agent.

First, take up all loose dirt on the floor by sweeping and dust mopping. Second, wipe the floor with a clean cloth wrung from luke-warm water and borax soap solution. Rub stubborn spots until they are removed. Third, wipe the floor with warm water, then remove all poswithout walking on it. Sixth, refinish if the floor needs it, even if it means repainting, varnishing or shellacking. Be sure the floor is completely dry

The last step puts a protective oating over the floor, keeps sculff marks off and makes it easier to remove those that do appear. Apply three to five coats of good water water emulsion wax, being sure to allow each coat to dry for at least 30 minutes. With such protection on your floors, black marks come up by rubbing with a clean cloth dampened in the water emulsion wax.

FUTURES MARKET GOES TO NEW HIGH LEVEL SATURDAY

Average price of spot cotton, middling fifteen-sixteenths inch staple, at the 10 designated spot markets on Saturday, Hamlin farmers are informed, was 25.07 cents a pound.

Cotton futures market Saturday went to new high seasonal levels, with the exception of the more distant position, which came within a few points of the high. The close showed the near months 9 to 10 points net higher, while the distant months ranged from 13 to 17 points better. Distant months received more support than the near. Reports in the trade were that there is a strong demand for the better grades in the spot market, but the poorer grades were virtually ignored. Total sales in the ten designated spot markets for the week were 226,456 bales compared with 90,222 bales the same period last year, while thus far this season they totaled 3,845,547 bales, as compared with 3,950,679 bales the same period a year ago. Call sales yet to be fixed in the futures market are said to comprise a large percentage of the open interest in March futures, and spot merchants are reported to show no inclination to take any government cotton for purchases of delivery on March, and therefore the near months could easily widen premiums over the next crop deliveries.

FUTURES MARKET GOES TO NEW HIGH LEVEL SATURDAY

went to new high seasonal levels, with the exception of the more distant position, which came within a few points of the high. The close showed the near months 9 to 10 points net higher, while the distant months ranged from 13 to 17 points better. Distant months received more support than the near. Reports in he trade were that there is a strong demand for the better grades in the spot market, but the poorer grades were virtually ignored. Total sales in the ten designated spot markets for the week were 226,456 bales compared with 90,222 bales the same period last year, while thus far this season they totaled 3,845,547 bales, as compared with 3,950,679 bales the same period a year ago. Call sales yet to be fixed in the futures market are said to comprise a large percentage of the open interest in March futures, and spot merchants are reported to show no inclination to take any government cotton for purchases of delivery on March, and therefore the near months could easily widen premiums over the next crop deliveries.

HAMLIN CAN GIF ITS HOSPITAL

Assuring area people of new close-at-hand hospital facilities at nominal cost!

Project would provide complete fine plant, staffed by competent doctors, surgeons and nurses.

Plan of Hamlin Memorial Hospital Association

The nearer a family can be to doctors and a hospital in time of sickness, far less is the cost and worry.

There is a wide area in Jones, Fisher and Stonewall Counties that does not have adequate medical service and hospitalization facilities, and as a consequence extra miles of travel and hours and days of time must be spent in going to and from doctors and hospitals, making double the cost and triple the worry to all who require the attention of physicians and hospitals.

A movement was launched several months ago by a group of Hamlin citizens, headed by Bowen Pope, former publisher of The Hamlin Herald, to get a hospital for Hamlin, and a good start toward realizing such an institution has been attained. Charter for the Hamlin Memorial Hospital Association was granted by the State Department and filed January 4, 1946. General plan for promotion of the project follows:

THE BUILDING AND EQUIPMENT

Each family may pay a $50.00 fee for a Life Time Membership in the Hamlin Memorial Hospital Association. From this source the hospital will be built and equipped. All member families in the Hospital Association will enjoy many extra advantages in csots at the Hospital, including unlimited attention of doctors on the staff, medical supplies, nursing care and room costs, all averaging in most cases about one-half what is usually paid in private hospitals. Non-member persons would be admitted with charges as in private hospitals.

THE DOCTORS' SERVICE

To receive the fullest benefits the member families will be privileged to provide for doctors' attention in the Hospital by paying a small annual fee at the beginning of each fiscal year. (This phase will not be called for until the Hospital is opened for service). The medical fees used in other hospitals of this nature are as follows: One person in family, $12; two, $18; three, $22; four, $25. Any dependent would be about $6. These reasonable amounts pay for all doctors may need to do for each and all members of the family for one full year. This is a great saving and advantage in many ways to members. Non-member persons would be served as in any private hospital, at the customary prices.

HOSPITAL CONTROLLED BY DIRECTORS

The charter for the Hamlin Memorial Hospital has named in it nine directors to serve the first year of the Association, after which the membership, in their annual mail will elect them (three each year). The director that the people in all matters, as to funds, propert taking policies for operating the Hospital.

JUDGE SMITH ADVANCES

Our county judge, Gilbert B. Smith of Anson, advanced a good many rungs up the ladder at one step last week when he was named first president of the newly formed American Institute of Local Highway Adminis- to do, for one or all in the member tration in Chicago.

Judge Smith in reality has been making a record several years as a live-wire, "up-and-at-'em" judge, and if there is one thing close to the following amounts have been proven judge's heart it is good, decent, all-weather roads for farmers, ranchers and travelers through this great land. His elevation to the key place of family, $12; two, $18; three, $22; the AILHA indeed gives Jones County and all West Texas a real "break" four, $25; and $2 for each addiwhen it comes to highway projects.

We all realize, of course, that good roads cannot be built overnight mother and four children the yearly to every hamlet and community of our land, but we know the highway fee would be $29. This cares for organization, with a key man like Judge Smith in it, will indeed go far the doctors' bill. Hospital room, toward making America the "roads of the free and the home of the pavement."

CURBING COTTON FUTURES

Some of the best news to originate in New York, the world's trading charged full price as in a private center in cotton futures, in many months is announcement that the New hospital. Any doctor not on the York Cotton Exchange has increased margin requirements from $5 to $10 staff may send his patients here.

Speculative interests in years gone by have helped cause calamity in the futures market by digging in too heavy without sufficient marginal It should not take so long for people backing—hence many cases of brokers going broke as well as the "bottom falling out" of the cotton market without benefit of recovery backlog.

Dealing in cotton futures is a mighty fine business when such dealers have good, stiff marginal requirements and cannot bid "hog wild." Without some type of restricting action, our present good market for cotton could be virtually ruined overnight.

During the early part of the 1945 cotton season, for example, those out, will be your receipts. HAMLIN MEMORIAL HOSPITAL

One of the most progressive steps Hamlin has taken in years is the unfolding of Hamlin Memorial Hospital Association, charter for which has been granted and full information on which will be found in this week's

A hospital for Hamlin will fill a long felt need. We have the best people in the world here, and there really has been no need for them to go to other towns when hospitalization is required.

More than two years ago the urgent need for a modern, first class hospital for Hamlin was widely discussed. But because building materials were impossible to get and labor was scarce, the project had to rock along until some definite action could be taken with view toward immediate reality of a hospital.

We have a vast and fertile area in Jones, Fisher and Stonewall Counties that has for many years felt the need of being closer to doctors and hospitals. Much extra financial cost and loss of precious time when folks are sick have piled up because Hamlin did not have a hospital of its own close at hand.

Now that the time has come for action, all Hamlin is going after a memorial hospital, to honor and perpetuate the memory of our boys and girls who sacrificed for this nation tooth and toe-nail. The cause deserves the whole-hearted and unreserved support of every family in this trade zone.

The days of the apostles and Luke, the great physician, have been sacred history for hundreds of years, but with a memorial hospital here, the days of surgical and medical miracles will unfold right here in Hamlin, and near our hearts and homes, when we get this magnificent project dedicated and ready to minister to the sick and suffering.

What Contemporaries Are Saying

SCOUTING

Not every boy under the age of 18 is a juvenile delinquent, though the police blotter might leave the impression. A lot of good boypower is developing into good manpower, and there is nothing like a Boy Scout to prove it.

Some time between his ninth and eighteenth birthday, every other boy in the United States is enrolling in one or more of the programs of Scouting. Since the organization began in this country, more than 12,000,000 persons have had the training. Every level of society is touched. Around 100,000 negro men and boys are in Scouting. Scout troops operate in more than 11,000 rural villages, with a third of the members living on adjoining farms.

The skeptical might ask: Why, then, does delinquency increase? An effective answer is that the increase would be tragically astronomic had it not been for this organization. Doubtless some Scouts have become criminals; data are lacking. But Scouting points pridefully to a statement by Warden Lawes that in his 21 years at Sing-Sing only three inmates have been Scouts. Businessmen with Scout training-in the forefront of civic and philanthropic work everywhere-are a bloc of proof the training has borne fruit.

You can't reform a boy in jail. It is almost as hard in a reform school. The only answer to this most serious of all social problems is to stop the problem before it starts. Scouting long ago seized on this theory. It embraces the young—of all boys who reached 12 years of age in 1944, 44 per cent became Scouts-and keeps them wholesomely busy. Somewhere along the line it tries to teach them the practical difference between right and wrong. In a nutshell, that is nipping delinquency in the bud.

May the work prosper! Aside for Scouting's success, its attempts at idealism are worthy of the finest tribute we elders can bestow .- The Dallas

"Think on these things"

THE NEWNESS OF CHRISTIANITY

In closing our meditation on the above theme, we wish to use this thought: The Christian Religion is new or original in that it is missionary.

J. Freeman Clark, in his book entitled "Ten Great Religions," states his conclusions as follows: "All the great religions of the world, except Christianity, are ethnic religions or religions limited to a single nation or race. Christianity alone is the religion of all races."

The heathen religions being ethnical or national, were not missionary. Nor was the Jewish religion missionary. In the fifteen hundred years of its history we do not find that the Jews converted to their religion a village, town or city, much less a nation. It is true they made some proselytes, but the Jewish system of religion was restricted to Israel as a nation. They were nowhere commanded to become a missionary people or to convert other nations to their religion. The Jewish religion was added to the former covenant and was designed at its consummation to bring the Messiah to the world. Its prophecies foretold and its prophets pointed out the coming One. It was said, speaking of certain kings: "And in the days of those kings shall the God of heaven set up a kingdom, which shall never be destroyed." JUDGE SMITH ADVANCES

Our county judge, Gilbert B. Smith of Anson, advanced a good many cal service fees, which pay all docrungs up the ladder at one step last week when he was named first presi- tors' charges whatever he may have dent of the newly formed American Institute of Local Highway Adminis- to do, for one or all in the member

Judge Smith in reality has been making a record several years as a even any kind of operation. The live-wire, "up-and-at-'em" judge, and if there is one thing close to the following amounts have been proven judge's heart it is good, decent, all-weather roads for farmers, ranchers enough to cover this cost: One in dren and dependents must be shown point man with 16. Tops for Hamlin and travelers through this great land. His elevation to the key place of family, $12; two, $18; three, $22; the AILHA indeed gives Jones County and all West Texas a real "break" four, $25; and $2 for each addiwhen it comes to highway projects.

We all realize, of course, that good roads cannot be built overnight mother and four children the yearly to every hamlet and community of our land, but we know the highway fee would be $29. This cares for and perpetuate the names and memorganization, with a key man like Judge Smith in it, will indeed go far the doctors' bill. Hospital room, ories of our boys and girls who sactoward making America the "roads of the free and the home of the pavement."

CURBING COTTON FUTURES

Some of the best news to originate in New York, the world's trading charged full price as in a private center in cotton futures, in many months is announcement that the New hospital. Any doctor not on the York Cotton Exchange has increased margin requirements from $5 to $10 staff may send his patients here.

Speculative interests in years gone by have helped cause calamity in the futures market by digging in too heavy without sufficient marginal backing—hence many cases of brokers going broke as well as the "bottom falling out" of the cotton market without benefit of recovery backlog.

Dealing in cotton futures is a mighty fine business when such dealers bership. This should be paid by have good, stiff marginal requirements and cannot bid "hog wild." With- check, and the checks and deposit out some type of restricting action, our present good market for cotton slips showing the names, along with could be virtually ruined overnight.

During the early part of the 1945 cotton season, for example, those who bought heavily of cotton equities and futures have made some mighty good money, and now that cotton is commanding the highest price range in 18 years, The Herald wants to commend the New York Cotton Exchange for putting the clamps on before we have another crop of brokers jumping out of 15 and 20-story buildings and farmers dropping out along under the shackles of three and four-cent cotton.

HAMLIN MEMORIAL HOSPITAL

One of the most progressive steps Hamlin has taken in years is the unfolding of Hamlin Memorial Hospital Association, charter for which has been granted and full information on which will be found in this week's

A hospital for Hamlin will fill a long felt need. We have the best people in the world here, and there really has been no need for them to go to other towns when hospitalization is required.

More than two years ago the urgent need for a modern, first class hospital for Hamlin was widely discussed. But because building materials were impossible to get and labor was scarce, the project had to rock along until some definite action could be taken with view toward immediate reality of a hospital.

We have a vast and fertile area in Jones, Fisher and Stonewall Counties that has for many years felt the need of being closer to doctors and hospitals. Much extra financial cost and loss of precious time when folks are sick have piled up because Hamlin did not have a hospital of its own close at hand,

Now that the time has come for action, all Hamlin is going after a memorial hospital, to honor and perpetuate the memory of our boys and girls who sacrificed for this nation tooth and toe-nail. The cause deserves the whole-hearted and unreserved support of every family in this

The days of the apostles and Luke, the great physician, have been sacred history for hundreds of years, but with a memorial hospital here, the days of surgical and medical miracles will unfold right here in Hamlin, and near our hearts and homes, when we get this magnificent project dedicated and ready to minister to the sick and suffering.

What Contemporaries Are Saying

SCOUTING

Not every boy under the age of 18 is a juvenile delinquent, though the police blotter might leave the impression. A lot of good boypower is developing into good manpower, and there is nothing like a Boy Scout to

Some time between his ninth and eighteenth birthday, every other boy in the United States is enrolling in one or more of the programs of Scouting. Since the organization began in this country, more than 12,000,000 persons have had the training. Every level of society is touched. Around 100,000 negro men and boys are in Scouting. Scout troops operate in more than 11,000 rural villages, with a third of the members living on adjoining farms. The skeptical might ask: Why, then, does delinquency increase? An effective answer is that the increase would be tragically astronomic had it not been for this organization. Doubtless some Scouts have become criminals; data are lacking. But Scouting points pridefully to a statement by Warden Lawes that in his 21 years at Sing-Sing only three inmates have been Scouts. Businessmen with Scout training-in the forefront of civic and philanthropic work everywhere-are a bloc of proof the training has borne fruit.

You can't reform a boy in jail. It is almost as hard in a reform school. The only answer to this most serious of all social problems is to stop the problem before it starts. Scouting long ago seized on this theory. It embraces the young-of all boys who reached 12 years of age in 1944, 44 per cent became Scouts-and keeps them wholesomely busy. Somewhere along the line it tries to teach them the practical difference between right and wrong. In a nutshell, that is nipping delinquency in

In closing our meditation on the above theme, we wish to use this thought: The Christian Religion is new or original in that it is missionary.

J. Freeman Clark, in his book entitled "Ten Great Religions," states his conclusions as follows: "All the great religions of the world, except Christianity, are ethnic religions or religions limited to a single nation or race. Christianity alone is the religion of all races."

The heathen religions being ethnical or national, were not missionary. Nor was the Jewish religion missionary. In the fifteen hundred years of its history we do not find that the Jews converted to their religion a village, town or city, much less a nation. It is true they made some proselytes, but the Jewish system of religion was restricted to Israel as a nation. They were nowhere commanded to become a missionary people or to convert other nations to their religion. The Jewish religion was added to the former covenant and was designed at its consummation to bring the Messiah to the world. Its prophecies foretold and its prophets pointed out the coming One. It was said, speaking of certain kings: "And in the days of those kings shall the God of heaven set up a kingdom, which shall never be destroyed." (Dan. 2:44) Isaiah, in speaking of the Messiah to come, said: "The government shall be upon his shoulder, and his name shall be called Wonderful, Counselor, the Mighty God, the Everlasting Father, the Prince of Peace." (Isa. 9:6) In fulfillment of these and many other prophecies, Christ came in the fulness of time and established a reign of universal love, of mercy and forgiveness, which has been in the world and swayed its destiny for nineteen hundred years, blessing and cheering the living, comforting the dying, and giving the hope of eternal life beyond the grave.

DECREASE IN AREA INFLUENZA CASES NOTED IN REPORT

Over a 13-county area in the Abilene territory, including Jones County, the weekly morbidity report issued by the Abilene-Taylor County Health Unit shows a decrease in the number of influenza cases reported.

Only four counties in the area-Scurry, Nolan, Mitchell and Shackelford-were reported entirely free of disease during the past week. Jones County was not reported.

Top counties in the Abilene area were Haskell and Taylor, with approximately 60 each.

Total reported for the district was 283. Pneumonia cases recorded were 28-while in Texas as a whole 6,437 cases were reported.

Other communicable diseases reported during the week included Sergeant Farnsworth, his wife and gonorrhea 19, pneumonia 28, scarcough 2, tuberculosis 2, diptheria 4 dysentery 60.

The Colorado City congressman sail there was a threat of a 9,000,000bale carry-over for August this year.

"The Commodity Credit Corporation can throw 4,000,000 bales on the market if a scarcity occurs," he Mahon said he hoped the cotton surplus could be decreased by shipto Germany and Japan. He said the CCC shipped 1,500,000 bales last year-mostly short staple which he said is "the Texas variety.

The threatened price control discriminates against cotton producers because increased labor costs were not reflected in parity prices, the basis for computing the ceiling, Mahon concluded.
